

Hair Analysis

The coat and whiskers were examined using a standardized checklist.

The assay was performed at either 4 or 9 weeks, dependent upon pipeline. It was later incorporated into the broader Dysmorphology screen. The diet the mice were fed was pipeline dependent. Where the mice were changed onto a high fat diet, this assay was performed at the point of doing in order to avoid the phenotype effect being confounded by the diet.